COMMENTARY ON READINGS

First Reading: David is magnanimous towards King Saul who regards him as an enemy. He shows mercy and compassion by sparing Saul's life when he could easily have killed him with impunity. (Samuel 26:2, 7-9, 12-13, 22-23)

RESPONSORIAL PSALM (Ps. 103)
“ The Lord is kind and merciful. ”

Bless the LORD, O my soul;
and all my being, bless his holy name.
Bless the LORD, O my soul,
and forget not all his benefits. Res.

He pardons all your iniquities,
heals all your ills.
He redeems your life from destruction,
crowns you with kindness and compassion. Res

Merciful and gracious is the LORD, slow to anger and abounding in kindness.
Not according to our sins does he deal with us,
nor does he requite us according to our crimes. Res.

As far as the east is from the west,
so far has he put our transgressions from us.
As a father has compassion on his children,
so the LORD has compassion on those who fear him.
Res.

Second Reading: St. Paul contrasts our risen Lord Jesus with Adam. Adam is our origin and model as plain human beings. Jesus Christ is our origin and model as baptized Christians who are reborn by water and the Spirit. (Corinthians 15:45-49)

Gospel: In today's Gospel Jesus' commands His followers to love their enemies; be merciful to, and refrain from judging others; the measure we give out to others shall be the measure we will receive in return.. (Luke 6:27-38)

MAXIMS OF EQUITY

He who seeks equity must do equity Equity is fairness and as such a person who wants to be treated fairly must also act fairly.

For example, a person who borrows from a person who is not a licensed moneylender cannot refuse to pay back the loan because the lender is not licensed.
